Two Splash-Resistant Drip Trays

Polypropylene drip trays from BendPak are a cost-effective solution to a messy problem. A reversible design allows them to accommodate BendPak four-post lifts with the runways positioned either wide or narrow. Sold as a set of two, these drip trays are an essential four-post lift accessory, especially if you have a vehicle that leaks. These affordable, impact-resistant polypropylene drip trays are rugged, light and help solve the common problem of potentially harmful drips.

Sold in packs of two, each tray comes with 56 articulated catches and gutters to restrain the fluid from sloshing out, so all that oil, coolant and muck stays neatly contained within individual compartments, even when carried or bumped. A smart, black color scheme hides the appearance of stains and blemishes.
